PAINT SPLAT POLAR BEAR

Tools:

- Scissors
- School Glue
- Sharpie Markers

Supplies:

- Blue Cardstock Paper
- Black Cardstock Paper
- Gray Cardstock Paper
- White Cardstock Paper
- White Tulip Puffy Paint

- Fold your BLUE cardstock paper in half and open it back up.
- Grab your Tulip puffy paint and squirt some white craft paint ON ONE SIDE before closing it up again.
- Once the paper is closed for the second time, gently take your hand and rub the paper so the white paint inside makes a fun symmetrical print design on both sides of the paper. Keep in mind - paint might ooze from the sides of the cardstock, so be sure to work in an area that can get dirty!
- Now you are ready to open it back up and see the BEGINNING of what your polar bear's head will eventually be. From there you decorate it to bring it to life!
- Next up, grab the remaining sheets of cardstock paper and your scissors.
- Out of the white cardstock, cut TWO half moon circle ears.
- Out of the gray cardstock, cut out a large circle for his nose.
- Out of the black cardstock, cut out two small eyes and his nose.
- Use the Sharpie marker to draw on more details for the gray nose paper piece.
- Finally glue down ALL the cardstock cutout pieces, on top of the paint splat design.
